

Washington, D.C. 20505

29 March 1977

STAT

Dear [redacted]

You'll be pleased to know that your charming card in the green envelope reached me on St. Patrick's Day! I thank you for it, and for your warm words of support for me and CIA.

Looking back to that 7 December day when you were in Oahu, you know full well how important a good intelligence service can be to our country. It was that experience, in fact, which led to the development of the CIA.

Thank you again for your thoughtfulness. Best wishes.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Stansfield Turner".

STANSFIELD TURNER
Admiral, U. S. Navy

[redacted]
STAT